Introductory Note

Each week of the Church's year is identified by its calendar name (e.g. Week of 1 Advent). After the name is given the order of Daily Prayer which is normally to be used during that week. Next is listed the name of the Sunday, with its calendar date, its category in the Calendar, and its liturgical colour. Also listed are the feast days (in categories 1 to 5 of the Calendar) which occur in that week. The order of Daily Prayer which should be used on these days is indicated, and also the liturgical colour.

In this year's Guide the texts of the collects authorised by the College of Bishops for experimental use until 2028 have also been included.

In 2025/2026, the following feasts coincide with Sundays of higher rank and are therefore transferred to the next available weekday:

- Andrew, Apostle, Patron of Scotland (30 November 2025)
- Thomas, Apostle (21 December, unless observed on 3 July)
- Holy Innocents (28 December)*
- Conversion of Paul (25 January)*
- Matthias the Apostle (14 May)
- Visitation of Mary to Elizabeth (31 May)
- Luke the Evangelist (18 October)*

Feasts marked with an asterisk may, where local circumstances make this pastorally appropriate, be celebrated on the Sunday itself. For further guidance, see 'Using the Calendar', notes (iii) and (iv).

The Epiphany (6 January) may be celebrated on the second Sunday after Christmas (4 January).

The Ascension (14 May) may be celebrated on the following Sunday (17 May). See the section of the Calendar and Lectionary, 'Using the Calendar', notes (i) and (ii).

The readings and collect for the Transfiguration are to be used either on the Sunday before Lent (15 February) or on the Second Sunday of Lent (1 March), but not on both occasions.

This year's Guide notes the Ember Days and Rogation Days, for which optional readings are listed in the Calendar and Lectionary under 'Readings for Special Occasions'. Alongside the collect for Ember Days in Scottish Liturgy 1982 with Propers and Revised Common Lectionary, additional collects are available in Collects for Experimental Use (pp. 68–71; reproduced here on pp. 68–70). The experimental Collect for Rogation Days is also included in this Guide.

The four-week period (five Sundays) beginning with the first Sunday in September is observed as the Season of Creation. The College of Bishops has authorised material for experimental use during this season, including resources for the Eucharist and Daily Prayer. Several Collects are provided (see pp. 71–73 of this Guide). Harvest Thanksgiving is normally kept on the final Sunday of the season, though local circumstances may suggest another date.

Optional commemorations (Category 6) are not listed in this Guide. Users should consult the Calendar each week to decide which they wish to keep. Further guidance is given in the Introduction to the Calendar and Lectionary.

This Guide contains:

- Months of the year, with the psalms appointed for each month
- Weeks of the Church's year, with the appropriate collects and the order of Daily Prayer
- Sundays and feast days, with any specific collects, psalms, and orders of Daily Prayer

It also draws on several liturgies authorised for experimental use as well as liturgies on the Schedule to Canon 22:

- Daily Prayer – revised forms of the office, with a new 60-day psalm cycle (see p. 74, below)
- Season of Creation – collects and material for Daily Prayer and the Eucharist
- Collects – provided for each week or day as listed
- Services for Lent, Holy Week and Easter 2024

Copies of these liturgies are available from the General Synod Office or from the Scottish Episcopal Church website: www.scotland.anglican.org/who-we-are/publications/liturgies/experimental-liturgies-and-resources

Almighty God,
give us grace to cast away the works of darkness
